

Figure 1 is a false-color image of the galaxy cluster Abell 1835. The image shows a dense field of galaxies, with a prominent bright yellow/white galaxy at the center. Several galaxies are highlighted with dashed yellow circles, and a red cross marks a specific location. A red arrow points to the North (N) and East (E) directions. The axes are labeled 'Arc Seconds' and range from -30 to 30.
